A: Laboratory Report

Purpose of Survey:

To evaluate the possible sources of asbestos containing building materials (ACBM) in the accessible areas of the above mentioned structure and property in accordance with AQMD rule 1403, prior to renovation or demolition of building structures.

Sampling Methodology:

Quantity of Samples:

For friable materials the provisions of 40 CFR 763.107 are followed (minimum of 3 samples for suspected friable building materials).

For nonfriable materials [Tile, roofing products, vinyl floor coverings, transite sheetings and pipes (may be assumed to be ACBM), sheet rock, stucco, etc.] sufficient number of samples based on Industrial Hygienist experience and judgement shall be taken to determine presence of asbestos. Frequently, one sample may be sufficient for each building material type. If nonfriable floor tile contains no asbestos, then mastic will not be analyzed unless project requires partial demolition.

Gathering Suspected Asbestos-Containing Material:

First, the suspected material is wetted with water to minimize possible fiber release. Tools are then used to free the suspect material from its substrate. The material is then placed in its own sample bag and labeled with a unique number ("Client's Sample Number"). The samples are then transported to the lab for analysis.

Analysis:

Asbestos bulk analysis using dispersion staining and polarized light microscopy. The methodology used is EPA 600/ R-93/116.

Photograph 1- illustrates the front exterior of the barn/workshop at 21665 Eucalyptus Lane, Perris.

Photograph 2- illustrates the interior from rear wall in the barn/workshop at 21665 Eucalyptus Lane, Perris.

Discussion Concerning Inaccessible Areas:

An inspection was made of all accessible areas on the site. Based on the material present at the site, it is unlikely that additional asbestos containing material may be found.

An area is considered accessible if it can be fully explored. If the inspector feels it is unsafe to enter an area, or if size considerations restrict entry, the area is considered inaccessible. Speculations on whether an area might contain asbestos are based on the inspector's knowledge and experience.

CONCLUSION:

Asbestos containing building materials are not present at the site surveyed.

1. Have your demolition contractor fill out an AQMD form completely. (You must maintain a copy of this survey report and notification for three years - Rule 1403 (g) Recordkeeping -).

If, during the course of demolition, additional ACBM is identified (e.g., discovered in inaccessible areas) demolition must cease. The ACBM must be kept wet. Demolition activities may continue only after an asbestos abatement contractor has removed the ACBM.
