Summary:

A total of six bulk (10 analyzed) building material samples were taken for analysis. One of the samples analyzed was found to contain one percent or greater asbestos. The result of the laboratory analysis can be found in Table 1 and in the appendix. Sampling locations and locations of discovered ACM (asbestos containing building materials) are illustrated in diagrams 1 and 2. This amounts to approximately 48 square feet for the floor vinyl next to the kitchen area in the house.

See "CONCLUSION" for required actions by the owner and/or responsible party and diagram 2 for location of ACM to be abated.

Laboratory Results

Purpose of Survey:

To evaluate the possible sources of ACBM in the accessible areas of the above mentioned structure in accordance with AQMD rule 1403 prior to renovation or demolition of building structures.

Sampling Methodology:

Quantity of Samples:

For friable materials the provisions of 40 CFR 763.107 are followed (minimum of 3 samples for suspected friable building materials).

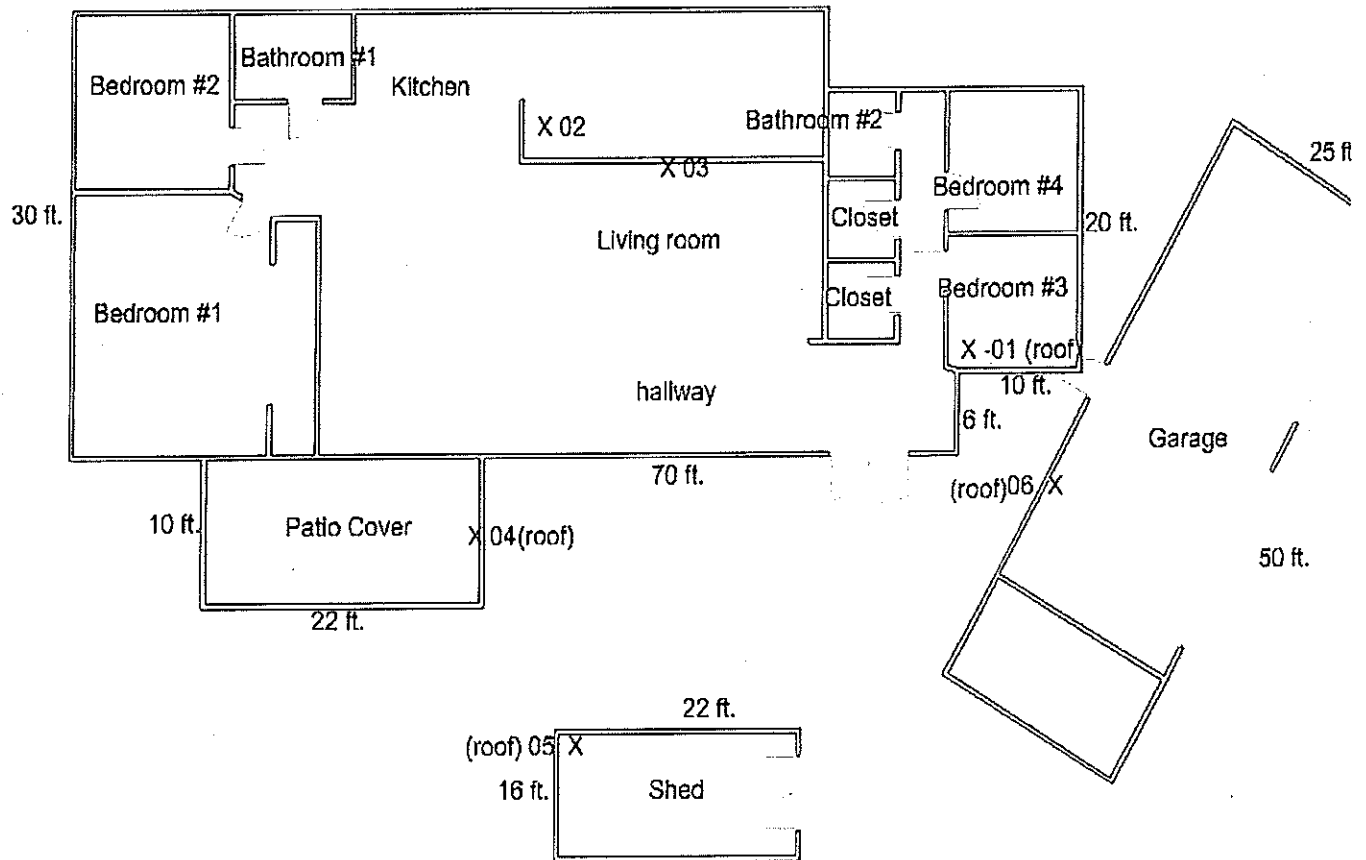

For nonfriable materials [Tile, roofing products, vinyl floor coverings, transite sheetings and pipes (may be assumed to be ACBM), sheet rock, stucco, etc.] sufficient number of samples based on industrial hygienist experience and judgement shall be taken to determine presence of asbestos. Frequently, one sample may be sufficient for each building material type. If nonfriable floor tile contains no asbestos, then mastic will not be analyzed unless project requires partial demolition.

Gathering Suspected Asbestos-Containing Material:

First, the suspected material is wetted with water to minimize possible fiber release. Tools are then used to free the suspect material from its substrate. The material is then placed in its own sample bag and labeled with a unique number ("Client's Sample Number"). The samples are then transported to the lab for analysis.

Diagram 1: Sampling Points

Illustrates the locations of samples taken at on the property at 41188 Gibbel Rd, Hemet. An "x" denotes each sampling point. The client's sample number (for reference to the lab report in the appendix) may be obtained by attaching the prefix "870-GR - " to each location number.
